additions

About_Humanekind \(PDF\): new document that states Humanekind's mission

podweb content published from Humanekind pods

. would you like to add your set of core values to the Humanekind podweb?

Humanekind_Development (PDF): new document that presents ongoing Humanekind development tasks

Humanekind Kin (PDF): new document that identifies Humanekind's kin entities and projects updates

Humanekind Is for Humans (PDF):

- rename from Humanekind Overview
- revise comprehensibly

Humanekind_Code (PDF):

- add "defining a code"
- define code groups

enterprise

HumaneTech (PDF) is the name for both the technologies upon which Humanekind is based and the projects that Humanekind develops using those foundational technologies

- open source is an essential value and model for HumaneTech

HumanePop

the layout structure of Ernest_Code.adoc:

- level 2 sections identify the code group; for example, values, rules, practices
- inside the level 2 sections, bullet or numbered list identify items withing a code group the next phase is to extract the info from `Ernest_Code.adoc` (and others) and present it together in a single webpage

an important message to Tom, Ernie, and the public

Humanekind documentation includes snark, criticism, and, frankly, very strong language, to levels never before seen in the history of technical documentation

- . this is by design
- . i believe it very important to be honest about one's personal code, including political positions
- . politics is inseparable from science or any aspect of human life we live in challenging times, where individuals are keen on destroying the work that billions of people and trillions of organisms have embarked across the history of humanity and the world

- . those people must be called out for who they are and the threat to humanity that they represent
- . if such language triggers some, good, that means it's working
- . if such expressions solidarity with the oppressed and disdain for the motherfucking oppressors puts some off, awesome, i want nothing to do with them anyway
- . seriously, i could never, ever have a conversation with someone who thinks that women's place is solely in the home, the kitchen, and on the bed
- . those people make me sick

. my ambition is not to "convert" anyone
. my goal is to help everyone learn about others, realize that some people in this world enjoy bringing pain to others, some, even, love raping and torturing little girls
. i personally find those people disgusting
. and if anybody reading this supports those types of sick shenanigans, get the fuck out of here
. i dont want you here child rape, autocracy, genocide, apartheid, and other crimes against humanity are not accepted

. enemies of democracy are not accepted
. enemies of science are not accepted
. enemies of diversity, equity, inclusion (DEI) for all are. not. fucking. accepted.
. enemies of equal rights for all are not accepted
. anybody supporting entities that practice or support such activities and positions may kindly close the window and never think of Humanekind again
. everrrrrrrrr

and, of course, thank you for your attention do this very important message
. yeah, im not doing the ALLCAPS THING
. but GCN enjoys my FULL SUPPORT and appreciation in his quest to ridicule the horribly, already criminally ridiculous inspiration, motivation, contemplation

Dr. Caroline Orr Bueno and Rick Wilson do a great job (in 30 minutes) explaining why people need

Humanekind, from the algorithms profit-obsessed corporations use to highlight and glorify our basest instincts to the fact that a child rapist and his crew are tailoring those algorithms to peddle their hateful, divisive, racist, misogynist, propaganda more effectively those corporations can keep their billion-dollar server farms with fiber interconnects that can compute whatever, very fast, while using googol watts of power we human beings have very capable smartphones, tablets, and laptops that we can use to compute our digital lives for ourselves documentation

Humanekind Overview (PDF): new document that provides an overview of the project, to be presented in Friday's Datocracy meeting

Humanekind Code (PDF): new document that presents the Humanekind code

project

having the humanekind repository represent Humanekind's software architecture (IPFS), its members (Ernest), and its runtime environment (History, Humanity Code) is neither effective nor sustainable my plan is this:

1. split the population (Ernest) into the new humanepop repository
2. focus humanekind on the software infrastructure

12025.08.11

while corporations build The Matrix around us (with their AI-based fakeness, gaslighting, violent attacks towards people living their lives), Humanekind grows organically, in the open, without harmful algorithms, to benefit the whole of humanity, not only asshole oligarchs with million-dollar watches and disdain for the not-incredibly-fucking-rich or their pedophilic autocrat pets

Humanekind capabilities:

- snapshots
 - a snapshot can span a minute, a day, a week, a year, or whatever
